MDOT gives Bethel the 'double-headed wigwag' on traffic light

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Following the latest signal flashed from the Maine Department of Transportation, it appears Bethel will not after all be able to "simply step right over the double-headed wigwag beacon to a full-fledged traffic light" (Dutch Dresser).

A "double-headed wigwag beacon" is MDOT-speak for a blinking caution light, which MDOT had planned to install at the intersection of the Parkway and Route 2.

But a full-fledged traffic light is what town officials, and most other people who have spoken out on the issue, believe is needed there.

Cars and trucks, including many tractor trailers, approach and depart the intersection in three directions, traveling in nine traffic lanes.

Three busy business driveways also enter directly into the flow.

And all this happens amidst a confusing visual clutter of utility poles, signs and, in the winter, piles of snowbanks that force drivers to creep out into the intersection itself to see what might be coming at them.

Built in 1995 — design by MDOT — the intersection has been the scene of numerous accidents, including one fatality.

And even before traffic from the new Rite Aid was added to the mix 1998 local users had been calling for a traffic light.

"The people of Bethel have Snowmobilers and other winter recreationists will have to wait another season for their own bridge across the Androscoggin River in Bethel.

An increase in construction costs has slowed the project's progress, according to MDOT officials.

Report lays out many causes for dropping out

By ALISON ALOISIO

A report that Supt. Dave Murphy said "calls a spade a spade" will help guide Telstar High School staff in trying to reduce the dropout rate at the school.

The report was the work of the SAD44 Dropout Prevention Committee, which was formed and met last spring as part of the School Board's policy requirements. Its members included staff, community members, a former student and a current student.

The dropout rate at the school over the past decade has averaged 24 percent of each class, and ranged from a low of 18 percent to a high of 32.

The group identified seven general school-related reasons for students leaving Telstar before graduation. (They also noted that there are family and cultural reasons, but focused on the school ones.)

Causes cited were: Instruction does not address various learning styles across all subjects and classes.

Telstar offers limited courses, primarily traditional core classes and some electives.

Some educators (meaning adults at the school) give the impression of not caring about

THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY—A 3-1/2 pound rainbow trout (above, yellow circle) flops through the air on his way to being landed Saturday during the Kids' Fishing Contest at the 28th annual New England Trappers Weekend in East Bethel. Just as contest judge Bob Noonan (purple T-shirt) was about to grab the sure winner, the trout high-tailed back into the water (above right), with Noonan in hot pursuit. The trout, however, was long gone. Noonan, a widely published outdoor writer from Unity, soon identified the means of escape — a broken line. Or is he, perhaps, demonstrating the size to which the ones that get away can grow in memory? (Photos by Michael Daniels)

Big Apple robbery nets two Mass. teens four years each

AP/STAFF

Two Massachusetts men have been sentenced to four years in jail for robbing the Big Apple store in Bethel at gunpoint last December.

Brian Kinlon Jr. and Daniel Shannon, both 19, pled guilty in Oxford County Superior Court last Thursday to felony robbery and receiving stolen property.

Judge Ellen Gorman went along with the prosecutor's recommended sentences in spite of letters asking for leniency from the teens' families. Both young men are from Rockland, Mass.

At the time of the robbery, they were staying at a Sunday River Ski Resort condominium owned by Shannon's parents.

The men took $583 from the store, then fled south on Route 26. They were caught by Paris police when they crashed their

Upton woman dies in Grafton Notch motorcycle accident

Upton resident Cynthia Scribner, 42, died Sunday as a result of injuries suffered in a motorcycle crash Saturday in Grafton Notch.

Scribner was headed north on Route 26 at about 5 p.m. when she lost control of her motorcycle, according to State Police.

She was thrown against a rock and suffered head trauma.

Scribner was transported to Maine Medical Center by ambulance, where she later died.

A preliminary investigation by police noted that speed was likely a contributing factor.

Greenwood selectman defends his record, says he has no plans to resign

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Embattled Greenwood selectman Ivan Roberts has said he will not resign.

Facing a likely recall vote at a soon-to-be-scheduled special Town Meeting, Roberts said Tuesday he finishes what he starts.

"I'm a disabled veteran," Roberts said. "I was hurt very near the end of my four-year stint and I could have come home three months early, but I said: 'I signed up for four years and I'll serve my full four years.'"

Roberts did say, however, that if voters allow him to finish out the remaining 19 months of his three-year term, he will probably not seek another term.

"I never say 'never,' but would I run again for selectman? The odds are very, very good that I would say that I've given my time, and I would retire to the hill."

Roberts said he was baffled as to why 65 town voters had signed a petition seeking the recall election.

"What charges are pending against me?" he said. "My problem is I don't know what I should be addressing."

He did acknowledge that he had probably stepped on some toes in questioning certain aspects of town financing and operations.

But asking hard questions, he said, is part of the selectman's job.

A selectman should not risk recall, he said "just because he upsets someone or maybe even because of how he delivered the question."

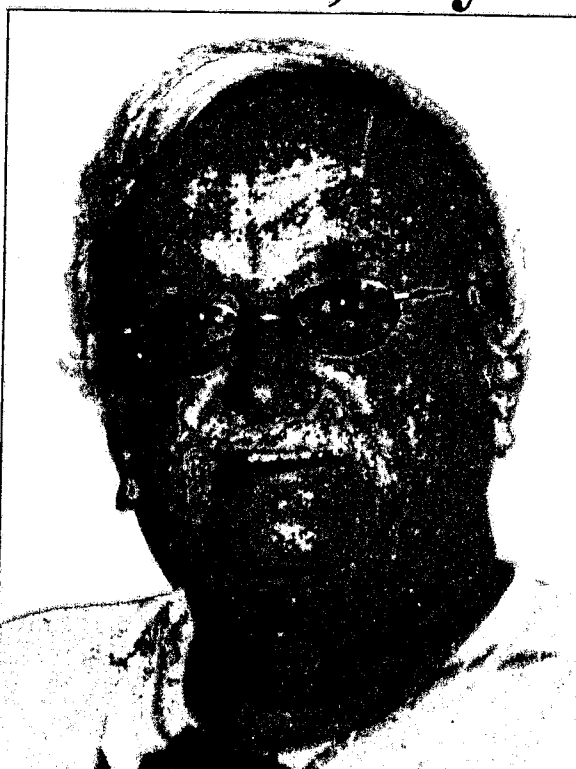

"I told the selectmen and town manager when I came in that if I heard any rumors that affected the town I would bring them forward," he said.

He also acknowledged his relationship with his two fellow selectmen "is not a very personal relationship. We don't have barbecues together."

And he expressed frustration with their unwillingness to pursue training opportunities and grants that would benefit the town.

The reason he spends more of his

FAIR, SAFE LODGING MARKET

To the Editor:

My name is Kathy Thrall. My husband and I own and operate The Inn At The Rostay in Bethel. I wish to clarify any misunderstandings and miscommunications that may have arisen over the subject of unlicensed lodging. I am writing this letter to stop the rumors and allay the fears of the citizens of Bethel, and also those from away who own second or third homes here and use them as a source of additional income.

This summer I experienced a situation as an owner of a lodging establishment that prompted me to look at the current lodging options in Bethel and surrounding towns. I found numerous houses on the Internet, with their own Web sites, that can be rented by the day, weekend, week, etc. According to their Web sites, they are available 365 days a year. On their Web sites a customer can check for availability, make a reservation, and even pay for the stay with a credit card.

I have no objection if someone wants to rent their primary home to someone else while they are away for the winter. I have no objection if someone has a second or third home they rent as long-term rental property.

However, there is a "casual" business practice in our area that I do not fully agree with. There are individuals who own second and third homes in the area, not for the intent of personal residence or recreation, but to take advantage of one of Bethel's and Maine's primary source of income, tourism. These property owners offer short stays, and market them aggressively with strong advertising campaigns. Many even belong to the Bethel Chamber of Commerce. These individuals are no longer offering "casual" rentals; they are operating a business, just as my renting a room at The Inn At The Rostay.

Rental lodging comes in many shapes and sizes. There are resorts, B&Bs, motels, inns, condominiums, and houses. While all are not the same, most require licensing.

Lodging establishments are required to have licenses from both the state and town, follow established health and safety codes, including testing of their well water. Lodging establishments must also be compliant with commercial building codes. All of these requirements are in place to assure a safe environment for the renter. It is also a matter of dollars and cents to the town and the state. A business must pay personal property tax on all of the furniture and equipment in their establishments, as well as various license fees. It is also a responsibility to collect and pay sales tax.

All I am asking is to level the lodging playing field and assure a safe environment for all by requiring that everyone who is in business selling lodging be held to the same standards that the current licensed lodging establishments are.

I don't know whether or not an ordinance is necessary. The reason I went to the town officials was for clarification of the lodging laws and to see what needed to be done to assure a fair and safe lodging market to all.

OUTDOOR APPRECIATION HIKE

To the Editor:

The Mahoosuc Land Trust, in cooperation with the Bethel Outing Club, is happy to announce its fourth outdoor appreciation hike, to take place this year on the morning of Saturday, Sept. 11. All interested are invited to meet at 9 a.m. at Frenchman's Hole. Those who wish to carpool may meet at the Brew Pub parking lot at 8:45 a.m. Returning after rave reviews last year, Jackie Cressy will again provide commentary on the biology of the area. Participants will be able to explore the Land Trust's (and the state's) recently protected property. Please bring appropriate clothing (swimwear?), water, and a picnic lunch. Questions may be directed to Tom DeLuca (364-4080).

In past years this has been a very popular event for families, and excellent weather has been requested.

STOP BY, ENJOY THE GARDEN

To the Editor:

"Celina Jodrey touched the lives of many children." is the inscription on a granite bench at Crescent Park School. It sits under the flagpole and in a newly established perennial garden. Her friends, family, and daycare children planned and planted the garden for all to enjoy.

All the volunteers should be very proud of their creation and teamwork. There is a space left for the kindergarten classes to plant annuals, and spring flowering bulbs will go in this month.

Most of the perennials are spring or fall blooming so that the school children will see them during the school year. The perennials are marked with their common names, and the back of the tag tells who donated it. Some plants came from Celina's own garden at her house.

Please stop by and enjoy the garden. There is space for a few more perennials.

Nancy Young in the CPS office has the information and tags if you want to add to the memorial. Again, thank you to all who contributed. Everyone created a very special, lasting memory.

MAHOOSUC KIDS SUMMER PROGRAM THANKS

To the Editor:

Mahoosuc Kids Association has just completed an eight-week "Summer Adventure Program." We had over 125 area children take part in activities that included theme weeks, arts/crafts, computers, cooking, gardening, outdoor activities and weekly field trips. We would like to thank everyone in the community who helped make the summer adventure program so successful. We want to thank the staff and custodians of Crescent Park School who happily worked around us and SAD44 bus garage for providing transportation for all off-campus activities. We also would like to thank the staff of the Big Adventure Center, the Bethel Inn, both at Songo and on the golf course, and Stony Brook Recreation and Camping for welcoming the kids and allowing us to use their facilities every week throughout the summer. We all look forward to making next summer even more exciting and entertaining for the children of the community.

We are currently recruiting community members to provide enrichment programs for students in grades K-8 as well as volunteers for the MKA Board of Directors. Call 824-7007 for more information or to volunteer. Thanks for a great summer.

LET'S HAVE FALL FEST FUN

To the Editor:

As the autumn approaches, the Bethel Area Chamber is planning for our annual Harvest Fest. What makes this event especially fun for all of us is the creative scarecrows that start to adorn the front porches and front yards of businesses and residences throughout the area.

We invite you to keep this new tradition alive and celebrate the transition of seasons.

The 2004 scarecrow theme is "The Presidential Year." Let's have fun with this. The chamber is also seeking a few businesses that would be willing to decorate the Welcome to Bethel signs at the Intervale Road and Lover's Lane. Please call our office, 824-2282, if you would like to do this.

Everyone who participates in the scarecrow decorating is doing their part to bring smiles to the faces of our residents and visitors. That's what this area has become known for. Let us know what your plans are, and we'll be sure to come and take a picture of your creation.

At the 7th annual Bethel Harvest Fest, on Saturday, Sept. 18, we will be holding the second annual Apple Pie Contest. The pies will be judged in three categories: amateur traditional crust pie, amateur non-traditional crust, and a professional division. So, whether you are a pastry chef for an area restaurant, or an avid home baker, we encourage you to enter. Three gift certificates to the Good Food Store will be the prizes for the winners. Please call the chamber office to let us know of your intent to enter.

So, as the dog-days of the 2004 summer are quickly becoming a memory, let's have some fun with the harvest.

SANFORD MAINERS UPDATE

To the Editor:

The Sanford Mainers baseball team ended its season in a very exciting way.

At Newport, R.I., in front of 3,000 fans the Mainers won the League Championship 6-4. Nothing came easy. In the ninth inning of the championship game the Newport Gulls had the bases loaded and no one out, with the league's leading hitter at the plate. He hit a ball right back to the pitcher who threw home and the catcher relayed to first completing a double play. The next hitter fled out to left and the celebration began.

In all the Mainers played nine playoff games in front of 16,000 fans. Eight of the games were decided by one run. Two of the games ended with a walk of home runs. Three times the Mainers had to win the third game of a best of three at the opponent's field. The first series ended in North Adams, Mass., as the Mainers were no-hit but still won 1-0. The next night, in Keene, N.H., the Sanford team hit five home runs and lost 8-7. The Sanford team took the next two games to win that series also. One night they were out hit 14-6 but still won 5-4. The Mainers lost the first game of the championship series, 4-3, but came back to win the next two.

Thanks to all the local people who made it to a game; I can't wait until next year.

the students, and/or that success is only the responsibility of the students.

Educators do not realize how much impact they have on students, and they can say or do things that may have lasting negative effects.

In many cases a partnership between the school and families is lacking.

There are not enough opportunities for course recovery and remediation — when students get behind in credits, they may have a difficult time recovering courses.

"What stands out was that there was almost never just one cause," said Principal Shawn Lambert.

He said nothing really unexpected came out of the group's work, but it will help to focus on solutions.

Among the solutions suggested:

More professional development in alternative approaches to instruction.

More varied and interesting courses and instruction.

More caring yet professional relationships between adults and students, perhaps including a more active role for student advisors.

Consistently gather student opinions through surveys regarding dropout issues.

Foster a community partnership at Telstar, perhaps through community volunteers.

Provide a more consistent and reliable means of course recovery and remediation, including summer and school-year offerings.

Implement a credit system in which students have more voice in the direction of their education.

Lambert said he planned to immediately discuss with staff ways "to make the connection with home that much stronger," using the existing Satellite group program.

Satellite groups match a teacher with a small group of students for the duration of each student's career at Telstar. The groups meet regularly.

Junkyard fence request rejected

BETHEL — The Planning Board last week denied junkyard owner Geoff Gaudreau's request that developer Western Maine Custom Builders build a fence next to his property. Gaudreau said he was concerned that children living in the proposed 32-acre Mountain Valley subdivision could be hurt on his property. The vote was 5-2 against the fence. Al Cressy, board chair, said other buffering options could be considered during the continuing review process for the project.

South Pond Shores plan nixed

GREENWOOD — The Greenwood Planning Board has rejected an application from California developer Bill Glad that would have allowed him to divide a 5.7 acre shorefront lot in South Pond Shores into three smaller lots. The 52-lot South Pond Shores subdivision was approved by the Planning Board in 1986, with all the lots except the one currently before the board being prohibited by covenant from further subdivision. At a recent public hearing several members of the subdivision's homeowners' association protested Glad's latest plan, saying they were told when they purchased their parcels that the lot in question was being reserved for association use. They also noted that under Greenwood's Shoreland Zoning Ordinance, there are already more lots in the subdivision than the amount of available beach could support. Glad's application included a request for a waiver from the town's road-frontage requirement. At it's most recent meeting the board unanimously rejected the waiver request, effectively denying the application. According to Planning Board Chairman Rodney Westleigh, board members were also concerned about the beach issue and the width of the right of way accessing one of the lots. Glad is expected to return at the board's next (Sept. 13) meeting, with a new plan for dividing the lot into two smaller parcels, Westleigh said.

Seven hurt in station wagon crash

WATERFORD — Five children and two adults were injured Monday when the brakes on their station wagon failed on Mill Hill and the car rolled over. Burnham Boucher, 34, of Fryeburg was driving the 1988 Buick station wagon down the steep Mill Hill Road in South Waterford. The car lost its brakes and hit a tree next to the road, according to police. The vehicle then rolled over, and slid down the hill and across routes 35/37, landing in a brook. Michelle Boucher, 33, was pinned under the car. Her husband and the children escaped by themselves. The Bouchers were taken to Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston and the children to Bridgton Hospital. Michelle Boucher, 33, remained at CMMC in critical condition as of Tuesday evening. Stoneham Rescue, United ambulance, the Warden Service and the Waterford Fire Department all responded to the accident.

Whitman works in art show

NORWAY — Gil Whitman of Bryant Pond will be among the artists displaying work in the Western Maine Art Group's September Show "Cool Days and Hot Nights." A reception for Whitman and the other artists will take place tomorrow (Friday) from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Matolcsy Art Center at 480 Main Street in Norway. Whitman is a well-known artist and sculptor who has done extensive work in bronze, iron and steel. For more information, call the gallery at 743-5411. (See Western Maine Art Group column, page 10.)

WMNF Forest Plan released

PLYMOUTH, N.H. — The White Mountain National Forest last week announced the release of the White Mountain National Forest Draft Environmental Impact Statement and Proposed Forest Plan. A public meeting to announce the preferred alternative will take place Sept. 18 at Boyd Hall, Plymouth State University in Plymouth, from 10 a.m. to noon. The DEIS and Forest Plan will be mailed to the public Sept. 10, and will be posted on the WMNF Web site Sept. 13 (www.fs.web.us/r9/white). A series of open houses is planned at various locations in October and November. Plan revision team members will be available to answer questions. Written comments can be submitted at the meetings or throughout the comment period. The official comment period is Sept. 17 through Dec. 16. Electronic comments may be sent to WMNFplan@fs.fed.us. Other comments may be mailed to Forest Planner, WMNF, 719 N. Main St., Laconia, N.H. 03246. For more information about the Plymouth meeting, call (603) 528-8796.

Fundraiser for soldiers

GREENWOOD — "Scrappin' and Stampin' for Soldiers" will take place Saturday, Sept. 11 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Jackson Silver American Legion Hall in Locke Mills. Participants will learn tips and techniques for scrapbooking albums and stamping projects. A registration fee of $20 includes instruction, lunch and prizes. Demonstrations will be given by Deanne Rothwell, a consultant for Creative Memories, and Kathy Pulsifer, a consultant for Stampin' Up. Proceeds will support monthly packages that will be mailed to six servicemen from West Paris who are currently serving overseas. For more information call 665-2141, 539-4335 or 674-2390. Donations of phone cards, toiletries and nonperishable food items will also be accepted at the event.

Bridge club starting season

BETHEL — The Mason-McMillin Bridge Club will begin its 2004-2005 schedule in September. Bridge players of all ability levels are welcome. For more information call 824-0575.

WHS ends season

WOODSTOCK — The Woodstock Historical Society, observing its 25th anniversary this year, has concluded its summer season. The actual anniversary is in November. The society meets the second Saturday of each month at 7 p.m., at the museum. Winter meetings take place in the community room of the Town Office.

Wildlife, fisheries workshops

GORHAM, NH — The Androscoggin River Watershed Council (ARWC) will offer two field workshops this fall for wildlife enthusiasts and anyone interested in conservation and habitat protection. Wildlife and fisheries biologists from both Maine and New Hampshire will discuss some of the critical issues facing wildlife, fisheries, and habitat management. On Saturday, Oct. 9 in the Bethel area, experts on land preservation methods, fishery and land use issues, water quality protection, and aquatic ecology will lead field trip presentations. There will also be a nature walk and canoe trip along the Androscoggin River. A second workshop, on Saturday, Oct. 16 in the White Mountains area of New Hampshire, will feature speakers on wildlife habitat conservation, trout stream restoration techniques, and northern forest issues. The workshop will include an afternoon pontoon boat trip into the Lake Umbagog National Wildlife Refuge with two of the region's leading experts on loons, eagles, and waterfowl. The registration fee for each educational workshop is $60. For more information: visit ARWC's web site at www.androscogginriver.org or call 603-466-3433.

time — and the town's money — on such matters, he said, was that no one else was willing to make the commitment. "Nobody was going to meetings," he said, "and Carol [former Town Manager Carol Whitman] said she didn't have time to do grants."

He said it was fellow selectman Wayne Hakala who encouraged him to pursue the workshops and grants, "because he felt I had time and I could do a good job."

And when Roberts' efforts began to put a strain on the budget for such activities, he said, Whitman told him to press on.

"I went to her and said 'Can I keep going?' And she said 'Yes. We'll find the money elsewhere.'" (Whitman could not be reached for comment.)

Full speed ahead

He said he has been criticized for rushing into things, but in some situations haste is warranted — for instance in the case of the $65,000 grant he helped the town win for repairs to the Alder River dam.

"There's a feeling with Wayne that I rush into things. That things should be taken more slowly," he said.

"But if I had waited another 30 days I would have lost the grant for the dam, and because we didn't get the dam moving sooner I lost a grant — by 30 days — that would have picked up 60 percent of the $40,000 it is costing us."

Roberts acknowledged he has made some missteps in his work for the town — for example, keeping a locked file cabinet in the selectmen's meeting room, and on one occasion overbilled the town for time spent at a training session in Augusta.

But in such instances, he said, when he learned of the mistake he moved immediately to correct it.

In the case of the overbilling, he said, "I only found out about the mistake by reading the newspaper. ... I would have hoped the town manager would have told me sooner."

Work still to be done

If he is allowed to finish out his term, Roberts said, there are three major things

OPENING DAY

Quirz Murphy, 12, and Kevin Annis, 9, do handstands Saturday to celebrate the opening of the swimming pond in Bethel's new Angevine Park.

Meagan Murphy and Nancy Annis, on the beach, had high praise for the new facility. "It's awesome," said Annis. In the past she has taken her sons to Greenwood and Waterford to swim. "I wouldn't mind seeing some Greenwood people here," Annis said. "They were always nice to us." Closing day this year for the pond will be determined by the weather.

said more than once, very loudly and clearly, that this ought to be there," said Selectman Stan Howe last week.

Their calls, however, fell on deaf ears at MDOT, which insisted repeatedly that the accident and traffic counts did not add up to the need for a traffic light.

For example, following the fatality, in 2000, the selectmen met again with MDOT to make the case for improving the intersection.

"I felt as though we made absolutely no progress," Dresser, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, said later. "We got a bureaucratic response and I felt as though we had absolutely no leverage."

Minor changes proposed

The bureaucratic intransigence appeared to ease a bit in early 2003.

MDOT announced tentative plans to make minor modifications to the traffic flow at the intersection, install a flashing light and relocated some driveways and utility poles.

To town officials this appeared better than no action, but still too little, too late (and even those modest plans have yet to be realized).

Go

But in May the situation brightened further.

In a letter to Town Manager Scott Cole, MDOT consultant Albert L. Godfrey said the department was now considering installing a traffic light.

"Updated traffic data and evaluation of sight distance restrictions at the Rite Aid intersection indicate that a traffic signal should be considered for this intersection," he wrote.

The town, he said, need only agree to pay for electricity and maintenance. MDOT would pay the cost (approximately $75,000) of the light itself.

"It is our understanding that the town has previously indicated an interest in having the intersection signalized," he wrote.

"The department is now willing to consider signalizing the intersection, if the town of Bethel will assume responsibility for electrical service and maintenance of the traffic signal after installation by MDOT."

Cole presented that proposal to town selectmen last week.

He told them the cost to the town would be approximately $500 a year.

They quickly and unanimously agreed to the deal.

Stop

But this week there was another letter from Godfrey, with reference to new numbers and a new MDOT decision.

"Analysis of the latest count data has found that current turning movement volumes at the intersection do not meet [Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices] minimum traffic volume warrants. On that basis, signalization must be ruled out as an option for improving the intersection of U.S. Route 2 and Parkway Road. We will be evaluating other alternatives in the weeks ahead."

Cole said Wednesday he was undaunted by the latest signal from MDOT, and he planned to continue lobbying for a traffic light.

plete and usable for this winter.

But MacDonald also warned any pitfalls could delay it. They materialized this year in the form of higher costs for steel and concrete, and the cost of transporting them.

As a result, the estimated $1 million price for the prefabricated, weathered steel truss bridge has now risen to between $1 and $1.5 million.

"We didn't want to see it, but it did happen," MacDonald said Tuesday.

The good news is, he said, MDOT has been able to find the additional funding, which will be available from the original bond package. But, he said, "It will still be tight."

The project had initially been allotted $1.1 million from the state bond fund. There is no local money invested in the bridge.

MacDonald said bids will go out this fall, and it is possible some earthwork may be completed before winter.

The work in the river and the installation of the bridge itself will wait until next spring. He expects the project to be completed in the summer.

Bethel has been at work this summer installing infrastructure to carry sewer lines across the bridge. Most of that work is complete, said Town Manager Scott Cole.

he would like to accomplish:

— Pursue a $300,000 CDBG grant that is available for helping elderly and low-income residents make needed home improvements (for example, fixing chimneys, windows and wells).

— Find a business to move into the former Gordon Tire Dump site. "I've talked to AVCOG and there's a grant available to help us do that," he said.

— See the dam project completed.

The next regular meeting of the Greenwood selectmen is Tuesday evening, Sept. 7.

They are expected to take up the recall petition at that meeting.

car into a tree.

A .22-caliber pistol, loaded and cocked, was found in the vehicle.

It had been stolen in a residential burglary in Massachusetts.

After they were apprehended in Maine, Kinlon and Shannon said they planned to use the stolen money to buy heroin in Massachusetts.

Howard Donahue is at Ledgewood Living Center, Room 236 West Bethel Road, West Paris. He would love to see or hear from his friends.

Glenn and Lillian McAlister of Woonsocket, R.I., spent a few days recently at Lone Pine with Hi and Mary Lou Berry.

Last week, Hi and Mary Lou Berry entertained Robert and Joanne Cole of Middleborough, Mass., for two days. They visited old familiar places in Sunday River and Newry.

Dick and Grace Douglass were really surprised at a party celebrating their 50th anniversary held at Shelly and Brian Douglass' camp at Songo Pond on Saturday, Aug. 28. Beth, Shelly and Gina were the hostesses along with their husbands.

Following church service on Sunday, Sept. 5, at the Methodist Church there will be a potluck luncheon.

"Dudley Do Right," chocolate lab belonging to Jeni Shaw, is visiting Gramma this week while Jeni is on a camping trip with Unity College freshmen.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

The town of Upton offers its sympathy to Jeff Scribner and the Thompson family on the untimely death of Cindy Thompson Scribner, who lost her life in a motorcycle accident on Route 26, near Screw Auger Falls on Saturday evening.

Cindy will be remembered as a strong woman who was very proficient at running "heavy equipment." She had another soft side, which showed in her care for a cub bear in the very deep snow of last year. The mother of this animal must have been shot in the bear season before the early winter storm. After the wardens removed the bear and placed it in a shelter, she followed through on its whereabouts and told everyone how happy she was that it was in a rehab and would be cared for. Terry Karkos wrote an article on Cindy's rescue, which was picked up by the Associated Press. She will be missed by her family and her friends.

There were a few nice August days last week, but signs that summer is coming to an end are evident everywhere. The goldenrod is everywhere, and summer asters are in large clumps on the roadside. My garden is a disaster area. I think the flowers were larger and more profuse this summer with the constant rainfall. Joy Yarnell brought me a huge bouquet of hydrangeas that were much bigger than other years.

Ginny and Buster Williamson received pictures of their Florida home, post-hurricane Charley. It was an awful mess, with the roof torn off and destruction of the contents. They say that repairs are planned to save the structure, but there is a lack of people to do the jobs all over Florida.

Donna, Bob, Sara and Lynde Pilsom attended the Moose Festival in Canaan, Vt. Zoe, their boxer, was a star in the dog talent show. She did "Paw Finger Painting" for the crowd. Although she didn't win first prize, she won "Most Photogenic" in her artist costume.

Sue and Dick Angevine traveled to Orono to visit grandchildren Santana and Dustin. The kids are well settled.

Goldfinches are regularly seen at the birdfeeders now. They are very beautiful with their yellow bodies and black wings. The male hummingbirds have left our area and may be headed south. There are quite a few females coming in for a sip. They are also in droves in the remaining garden flowers.

Gilead

by Lin Chapman

The big excitement of last week was the blasting of the ledge by the Androscoggin River Bridge.

When Hugh and I arrived on the scene at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, the workers were already drilling holes in the ledge. There was a man from the State of Maine DOT to inspect the bridge before and after the blasting was done, to be sure there was no damage, and there wasn't.

Tom Ryan of Ryan Rock, Drilling and Blasting out of Oxford, did the work. Fred was on hand to move the pieces of rock with the bucket loader and fill up the dump truck. He made several trips to the transfer station with the pieces.

He also placed a few of the pieces around the area between Route 2 and the railroad tracks (the area we had cleared to use for the Bicentennial) to let anyone know that this is no longer a parking lot.

In the near future, Fred will place a few more rocks and fill in the area with loam so the grass will grow. The removal of the front of the ledge has increased visibility when approaching the bridge from the North Road.

While we were there watching this drilling procedure, a bald eagle flew right overhead to check things out. He was headed down river, and we did not see him again.

I guess the drilling was too much for him and he did not stay around for the blasting. Before the blast, traffic was stopped and the area was checked out on the road and the river to be sure there was no one around.

Beverly Corriveau attended a family reunion (her grandmother's family) in Harrison on Saturday. Bev's mother, Myrtle Sylvester, and Bev's aunt, Charlotte Blodgett, went with her.

I had an e-mail message from Danielle Davis on the Bog Road: "I would like to say thanks to Fred Corriveau for all the work that has been done around town and especially the clearing on the Bog road. Great work!"

Steve McLain had a report of the Adventures of Joey McLain. Joey is back in Bozeman, Mont., and plans on staying there for a while.

Steve also told me that the Gilead Fire Department took their general knowledge test last Tuesday and did quite well. The test applies to driving commercial vehicles. Steve is the driving instructor for the GFD and one of the requirements for driving the new fire truck is to pass the tests he has been administering.

Hugh and I went to South Paris on Saturday. We stopped at a few yard sales on the way and then went to visit Albert and Nancy Holden.

Keep the news coming. Call 836-2987, e-mail chapman@hotmail.com or drop off a note.

Andover

by Joan Stinson-Carney

Congratulations to Brianne Drakus and Robert Morton, who became parents of a baby boy on Aug. 29. Paternal grandparents are Andover residents Elaine and Hank Morton. Maternal grandparents are Andover residents Patricia and Walter Drakus.

The Andover Calvary Bible Church will hold its annual Rally Day this Sunday, Sept. 5, at the church. Events will start at 9:30 a.m. The theme this year is the Olympics. Olympic games will be played followed by a cookout. All are invited.

Sixteen-year-old Jennifer Swain, daughter of Rodney and Kim Swain of Jericho, Vt., arrived in Galloway, Republic of Ireland on Aug. 28. She will be an exchange student at a girls' Catholic school until June. Her roommate is from Germany. Her paternal grandparents are East Andover residents Violet and Robert Swain.

The Town Hall Clock Restoration Committee wants to thank Larry Costa of Worldwide Language Resources, and Robert and Georgia Donati for their generous donations.

While I do not pretend to be Heloise, here are a few hints that I think are really good. To get rid of fleas instantly, use Dawn Dish Washing Liquid. Add a few drops to your dog's bath and shampoo the animal thoroughly, rinse well to avoid skin irritations. Goodbye fleas. The next time your dog comes in from the rain simply wipe the animal with any dryer sheet, instantly making your dog smell "springtime fresh." A few drops of Wesson Corn Oil in your cat's ear will eliminate ear mites. Massage it in, then clean with a cotton ball. Repeat daily for three days. The oil soothes the cat's skin, smothering the mites, and accelerates healing.

Quaker Oats is just not for breakfast anymore. Mix two cups of the oats and one cup of water in a bowl and warm in the microwave for one minute, cool slightly and apply the mixture to your hands for soothing relief from arthritis pain. To disinfect a broken blister, dab on a few drops of Listerine — a powerful anti-septic. Forget those expensive rust removers. Just saturate an abrasive sponge with Coca Cola and scrub the rust stain. The phosphoric acid in the coke is what gets the job done. What does it do to your stomach?

Did you know that Colgate Toothpaste makes an excellent salve for burns? Smart splinter remover: just pour a drop of Elmer's Glue all over the splinter, let dry, and peel the dried glue off the skin. The splinter sticks to the dried glue. Just think, no more needles, screaming children and harried parents, this really works. See ya.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

It feels like real Maine summer finally arrived. Hot, humid, can't sleep at night weather that we've seen very little of has recently hit.

At the Beginning of last week, I had to put an extra blanket on the bed at night and one morning it was 46 degrees when I got up. The last few nights have warranted only a sheet, which gets kicked off and two fans running most of the night. It has been 72 degrees when I get up.

I think we were doing just fine most of the summer. We had cool, comfortable nights and pleasant days. We had enough rain to keep the flowers moist without breaking out the hose. I like it like that.

Then, like a slap in the face the high temperatures and humidity arrived. It doesn't seem fair, but I guess all in all, we've been pretty lucky. I haven't suffered through that many sleepless nights because of the heat.

Saturday, when going outside felt like opening the door of a blast furnace, Henry and I went shopping. We went as much to seek the comfort of the air conditioning as anything else.

The store was packed with shoppers. I'm sure there were others seeking the same relief from the heat that we were after, but mostly it was Moms and Dads with school-age children in tow. It was obviously zero hour back-to-school shopping frenzy time for them and in several cases it didn't seem to be going all that well.

With my children grown and out of the nest, I had forgotten what the back-to-school shopping experience was like. I had forgotten that parents and kids seldom see eye-to-eye on the right school supplies and clothing. My memory was severely jogged on Saturday.

I overheard a mom and her 13 or 14 year-old daughter in a somewhat heated debate over the length of a particular little skirt. Apparently these little cheerleader type skirts are all the rage this year. A few minutes later I witnessed two high school age girls checking out the same skirts.

I had forgotten that parents and kids seldom see eye-to-eye on the right school supplies and clothing.

"My parents will kill me, but I'm going to get it anyway," said one of the girls as she headed for the dressing room.

Boy, didn't that take me back about 40 years ago. Only then the issue of skirt length was above or below the knee. My parents felt 2" below the knees was quite proper for a young lady and I was inclined to go 2" above the knee. Sometimes I got away with mid-knee, but it didn't really matter because as soon as I got out of the house I would roll the skirt up to whatever length that was currently cool.

I can't imagine how ridiculous some of us girls must have looked with our skirts halfway up our thighs and a great big bulge of material around the waist. The skirts always slipped down to necessitate quick trips to the bathroom to roll them up again. And, of course, we had to remember to unroll them before we went home.

I was out of school by the time the mini skirt craze hit, but I can well imagine how many heated debates they caused between mothers and daughters.

Over in the school supply aisle, there was a lot of activity over backpacks, lunch bags, pens, pencils and notebooks. There was much excitement with the young ones as they chose what appeared to be the most expensive supplies and the parents looked like they would rather be anywhere but where they were.

What ever happened to the days of the pencil box? A snapbox with a picture of your favorite TV character, two pencils, an eraser, a pencil sharpener, a ruler, and with the deluxe pencil boxes a compass and a protractor. That was it! One nice pencil box and a kid was good to go.

Backpacks were for hiking and only the nerds carried book bags. As for fancy lunch bags, forget it! You either had hot/cold lunch at school or you were a "walker" and walked home for lunch. I was a "walker."

As a "walker," I used to envy some of the cold lunch kids because they got to have a really cool lunch box complete with thermos. I never got to have one.

By the time Henry and I got around to the shoe section parents' good dispositions were waning and little kids were getting cranky. I saw one dad attempting to put a pair of shoes on a little boy who had a different idea. "You'll like these shoes once you get used to them, I promise," said the dad. "I hate them, I want the Yu-Gi-Oh sneakers, my feet hurt and I want to go swimming," whined the youngster.

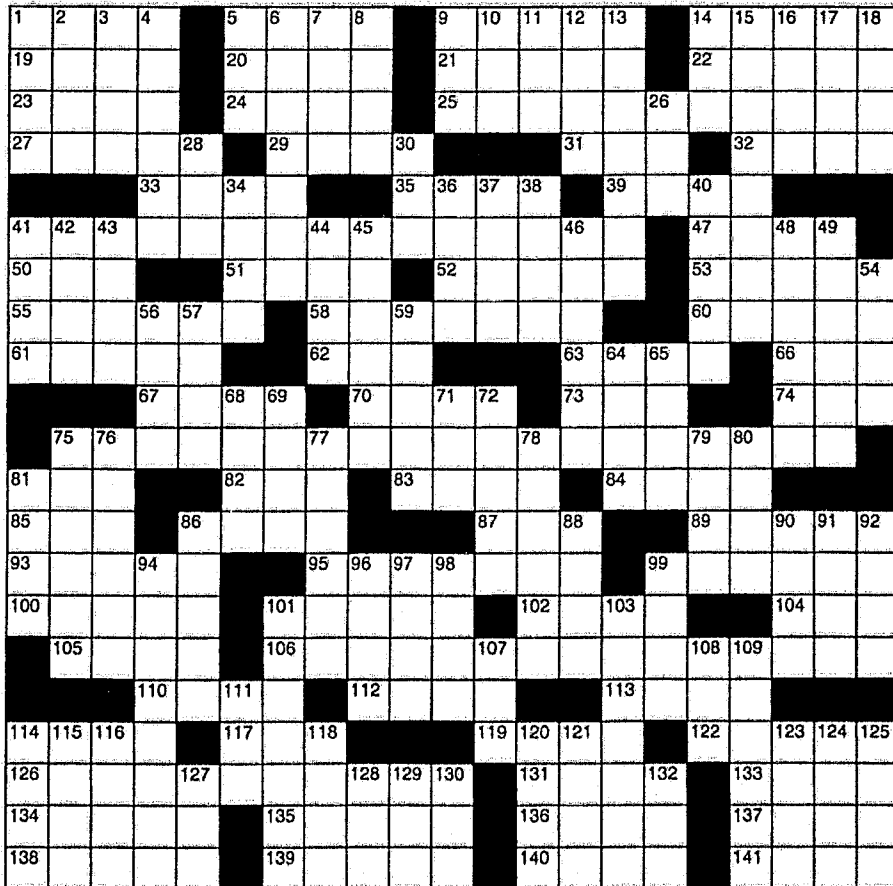

Go swimming indeed. I couldn't blame the lad; it was 90+ degrees and very humid. Kids shouldn't have to think about back-to-school when it's hot enough to go swimming.

I thought about my own kids and all the back-to-school shopping struggles I went through with them. It made me want to tell all the disgruntled parents in the store that as frustrating and expensive as this ordeal is they should try to enjoy it because the way I see it, just like summer, it is over way too soon.

I wish you all an enjoyable Labor Day weekend.

lies.

Well, I have to give Charlie Reese credit where it is due. He has this bicycle that is as long as he is tall. You sit back on the seat and your legs reach out front to the pedals. Well one day when it was sunny (very rare these days) he rode that bike from Cushman Road to Main Street, Bethel and back, and he has done it quite a few times.

Cindy Bobbe was in and said she and her husband are enjoying the summer. Also have seen Eloise Lewis walking across the street with her horses, where sometimes they graze.

Gary Caret and Patti brought down an Adirondack chair, which Gary custom-makes, as a gift to us to sit on at the farm stand. I love it. It is made of smooth pine and has a shorter seat so my feet can touch the ground, and it is easier to get out of. So thank you to them.

We have noticed the new sculpture at the library. What a great job, and it is fun to look at when you visit or ride by the library.

Wow, the end of Cushman Road has been paved.

Mike Nadeau stopped by to say hello. I believe he said Sierra will be in the fifth grade this year.

Jim and Karen Yarasites' granddaughter, Almela, visited one weekend and then another weekend granddaughter Jessica came. They had a great time.

I drove to Storyland to be with my grandchildren last weekend. What a fun place for kids of all ages. Then went to see the movie, "Princess Diaries II," cute and wholesome. I am not sure everyone knows Teresa from Teresa's Studio is the grandmother of triplets. That must be awesome.

and Larry Billings watched the Historical Society Museum Aug. 21. Five people came in. They were all very nice and seemed quite interested in the museum. The research materials and artifacts have wide appeal. Earlier in the day Larry visited the Greenwood Historical Society and donated items for them to sell in a flea market. He enjoyed his brief look around. Larry has given the museum a model lighthouse and a history of art. President Olive Risko attended a meeting planning the Oxford County Bicentennial on Paris Hill. The Historical Society offers everyone an opportunity to learn about the past. We can all benefit from such exposure. Society members share their knowledge with visitors willingly. This exchange is valuable. Curator Larry Billings says the society has had a good 25th year so far and he thanks all the members for their contributions. The November meeting will mark the actual anniversary. The museum has a great research library. Ruby Emery's papers are kept in a fireproof file. It has a fine collection of costume jewelry and a file box of postcards. These are staples in most antique shops and old postcards especially are becoming quite expensive now. At the next society meeting the program will be a video on Baxter State Park. Meeting date is Sept. 11, Saturday.

at the Whip O Will Kennels here in Stoneham this past week. He has been helping her with chores at the kennels. He is 11 years old. They called on us one afternoon for a visit. She is the former owner of "Katie."

Joshua Barnard of Seaford, Va., has been visiting his Uncle Genie (Albert E. Nelson Jr.) and cousin, Troy, this past week. They went to Nelson's camp at Big Brook, Wilsons Mills, over the weekend. He also called on Frances Grant and his grandparents, Albert and Eleanor Nelson, during the week. He and Troy enjoyed a cookout with Eric Nelson and Erin Specht in Wilton one evening. He had a good vacation in Maine but has now gone back to Virginia where he will attend college.

Don't forget people, Labor Day weekend, Sunday, Sept. 5, public breakfast at the Rescue Barn, 7 to 10 a.m. Always good and for a good cause.

Albert Nelson Sr. went to Norway, Aug. 26, and had eye surgery for cataract removal. All is well.

Last Friday, Aug. 20, Betty Morrison, Mary Saunders and Brenda Files went to Bridgton to a meeting of Native Americans where they had singing and playing on the drums. About 11 people were there. Next meeting will be at Norway at the Art Gallery.

Aug. 8, Sunday, the reunion of the McAllister/McAllister family met at the Stoneham Fire Station. There were people there from California, Florida, Arkansas, New Hampshire and 14 towns in Maine. The business meeting was opened by the vice president, Donald Farr, due to the recent death of the president, Justin McAllister. After the Pledge of Allegiance, there was a moment of silence in memory of family members who had passed away since the last meeting. New officers were elected as follows: president, Donald Farr; vice president/treasurer, Guy McAllister Jr.; secretary, Dorene McAllister Bartlett; trustees, Franklin McAllister, Joyce McAllister MacDonald, Marilyn McAllister Jones; honorary trustee, Fr. Donald McAllister. Music was furnished by "Just the Two of Us," Norm and Betty Decoteau.

The person coming the longest distance was Janice Freeman of Little Rock, Ark. The oldest family member was Enfield Wilson of Lovell and the youngest family member was Shyla Varney of Poland. They all received gift certificates. Bill Redmun of Danville won the 50/50 raffle. Cash door prizes went to Robert and Cay McAllister of South Paris, Justin Varney of Poland and Betty Danis of Norway. Sally Brown conducted a Chinese auction during the day. At lunchtime a beautiful cake was cut and served by Marilyn Jones and Lois Niemi. The 50th wedding anniversary of Delbert and Joyce McAllister was acknowledged, and also the ninth wedding anniversary of Elaine and Ashley Pike. The next reunion will be 2006.

On Aug. 25, Sharon and Howard Berman and Nowal of Massachusetts held a belated birthday party for me, with a cookout at their cottage at Lake Keewaydin. Those present were Dale and Kitty Nelson, Albert Nelson, Albert Jr. and Carole Nelson and Troy and the honored guest. It's always fun to get together. Thanks, guys.

Tim Bruce of Bethel (shown here with his dad, Bob) recently competed in the 11th annual Leadville Trail 100 Mountain Bike Race in Leadville, Colo., regarded as one of America's most difficult endurance mountain bike races. The race begins at 10,200 feet above sea level and climbs to over 12,000 feet. Seven hundred-fifty racers competed in the race with Bruce placing 153rd, 66th in his age group of men 30-39, (the largest age group in the race) with a finish time of 10:05:19. This was Bruce's fourth finish at Leadville. He was supported along the race route by his family of Aspen and Ft. Collins, Colo. and Danielle Smith of Hanover. When asked why he does this grueling race he said, "I like the physical and mental challenge this race brings. In the past years I have done the race with my father. This year he was recovering from an injury but hopefully he'll be at the start with me next year for his 70th birthday. My dad is my true inspiration." Bruce's father, Bob Bruce of Aspen, Colo., is the oldest person to ever finish the Leadville 100 — at the age of 69. What's the biggest challenge of an endurance race like Leadville? Said Bruce, "Altitude, because Bethel is 600 feet above sea level and where I do the majority of my training. There is a whole lot less oxygen at 12,000 feet and then there is humidity, the extensive riding time (10 hours), the physical toll on your body at altitude and the exposure to the sun. It's the hardest race I've ever competed in." How do you train for a race of this caliber? "Primarily on my road bike for base and quality miles," he said. "Long rides on the weekends average 100 to 130 miles with my trusted riding partner, Jim Reuter of Bethel. We often ride six out of seven days per week from April to August averaging 14 to 18 hours per week." (Reuter competed with Bruce on the Leadville Trail in 2003.)

Another week and the weather is cool at night. Good sleeping weather, anyway.

Brad and Ann Payne went to Bethel Inn for dinner. Brad has been playing golf at Bethel Inn and also Paris Hill.

Sunday, Ann Holt had dinner with her folks, Leonas and Fay Holt. Friday, Ann entertained her mother, Fay, and Zephie DiArenzo and daughter, Jane, for lunch.

Albert Jr. and Marie Curtis, Albert Jr. and Roberta Curtis and two sons, William and Albert III, Fred and Mandee Curtis and two girls, Felecia and Akayla, Bonnie Whitman and two sons, Spencer and Jason, all went up to Kingsbury to the camp lot for the weekend. It rained a lot, but they all had fun, as they had campers to get into.

My son, Kenneth called me from Kentucky. I always enjoy hearing from him.

Stephen Cogswell came up from Freeport on Friday and took me to the doctor's for my appointment. Then we went out for lunch.

Marie took her grandchildren school shopping one day recently.

Thought for the week: "Your life is full if you never stop learning, earning and yearning."

That's it for this week. Have a safe and happy one.

Jack and Lucy Nordahl returned on Aug. 19 from camping at Lobster Buoy Campgrounds in South Thomaston. The weather was perfect for all kinds of outdoor activities on the water.

Paul and Charlotte Kimball helped with the big year sale at the Union Church in Locke Mills on Aug. 27 and 28. They did very well.

Ruby Coolidge and the Scoggin Cloggers entertained at the Trappers Weekend on Aug. 17. On Aug. 28, Brandon "Elvis" Moore sang for the entertainment.

Alder River Grange held a regular meeting on Aug. 27 at the hall. Worthy Deputy Laura Hutchins instructed in grange ritual and inspected us. We did okay. There will be a special gathering at Lynn Mason-Courtney's after Labor Day to discuss Fryeburg Fair and what we will exhibit.

The Grange supper schedule is as follows: Sept. 11, is roast beef; Oct. 23 is the Harvest Supper; and Nov. 13 is the Turkey Supper with all the trimmings. Any veteran will have a free supper.

The past week was lovely weather wise — nice summer days. Have a good Labor Day Weekend. God Bless the Troops.

Hot, hot weather — just what everyone has been wishing for. At 4 p.m.

Saturday, the thermometer registered 92 degrees in the shade. Even the night was hot, and I was about ready to put the quilt on the bed.

School started this week, and camping is over. I did get my hair cut short expecting a few more hot days. And the tires were rotated getting ready for ice and snow.

The corn has been delicious along with cucumbers, summer squash, and string beans. The new potatoes are large enough to dig.

Blackberries are plentiful everywhere. The few raspberries that I bought were sweet and nice. They will not keep, for they tend to mold. I was able to eat them on cereal and for sauce before they aged.

Eleanor Inman and Margaret Perham Merrill were at Ferry Beach in Saco over the weekend for a reunion gathering. What beautiful weather they had. There have not been many beach days this summer.

mer.

Dustin Pilly spent the week with his grandparents, Beverly and Vince Stevens. He returned to school this week in Auburn.

I joined Cynthia and Sayward Lamb to visit Richard and Ethelyn Turner on Streaked Mountain. Richard had returned from the hospital and rehab at the Nursing Home.

The fall Penney's catalog arrived so winter cannot be far behind. Glad it wasn't the Christmas Wish Book. Tax bills also arrived but were not so welcome.

There will be no service Labor Day weekend, Sept. 5, but will start on the 12th for the winter season. The craft group is still working on their quilt on Thursdays.

Buffy is still doing well, eating lots of grass and napping under the lawn chair in the rain. It has been too hot for him to sleep on my bed. He stretches out by the back screen door to get all the fresh, cooler breeze.

and I should have gotten the condolences in last week's paper. My only excuse is that I wrote most of it early in the week and hurriedly added a few lines on Thursday, when my thoughts were on that overly fussy thing called "I." Shame on me. Anyhow, it is a sad time for the family and friends, and being a parent myself I empathize with the parents particularly because no parent should have to endure the loss of a child even if they are grown. Unfortunately, in this life bad things happen to good people, so we can only pray that somehow they may find comfort in the many good memories she left them with.

I also want to offer condolences to the family and friends of Colista Morgan. I know her column is missed and now she will be, too, not only by her family but by many friends and faithful readers. I remember often meeting her on the Greenwood road taking one of her famous hikes. She certainly did enjoy nature and the outdoors.

In reading over my column of last week, I was struck by my arrogance in presuming everyone uses the same standard as I to determine who is a Christian and who is not.

There are probably a lot of Christians that would not consider me one either. I am reminded of a rather cute poem I read once, and of which I wish I still had a copy, that told of this person's entering heaven and was amazed to see this other person there and was rather startled to see the look of amazement on that person's face because he clearly did not expect to see her there either. I need to frame it and put it on the wall near my computer. Clearly, the dizziness and floaty feeling I have been having lately is due to my over-inflated head.

I got quite a start just a minute ago to see my Garbo lying in the road. Much to my relief she did not get struck by a car but just decided it was a good place to take a nap. I can see she also considers herself pretty highly and too lofty to be struck. After all, people will certainly understand she has a right to the road above all others, right? Wrong. It is one of the reasons I do not like my cats outdoors, but it has been almost impossible to keep them in with so many people going in and out. I just wish they had more common sense or a better sense of boundaries. I worry about Princess, too, because she has really gotten very deaf in her old age and wouldn't hear a car. What she can't see doesn't exist for her.

I wonder what an animal thinks when they can no longer hear? I am not sure she even realizes it, but if she does she is pretty stoic about it. I am sure I wouldn't be, although given my choice I would rather not hear than not see. Neither is all that great when so much of this world needs the senses to experience life to its fullest.

Speaking of Garbo, it is strange in a way how much she often reminds me of Andy considering she was his cat to start with. One thing she does not like is having me shuffle papers when I am near her, so this morning when I was trying to fill out some forms she grabbed my hand and held on. How I remember Andy saying, "Must you keep rattling those papers? It drives me crazy." So apparently animals resemble their owners more ways than in looks.

I have been enjoying the herons that have been around lately. It seems as if we see certain birds at certain times of the summer and now that the ducks and geese are in short supply the herons come. Right now the water is pretty low, which I assume is a result of the work being done on the dam. I can hardly believe it is from lack of water.

Greg Adams treated his sister, Lorene Mills and his mother, Laura Hutchins, to a lobster feed Thursday evening, in honor of their birthdays.

Owen Brown was treated for an infection, Monday, and told not to go to work for three days. One hardly ever hears of Owen going to a doctor, to say nothing of missing work, so I hope he takes it in stride and gets some well-earned rest.

Princess has been having too many coughing spells this past week so she is now on cough syrup. It seems to be helping, although I never heard of giving a dog cough syrup. She is twelve years old, so I get nervous when she doesn't feel well. I have lost too many animals this past couple of months. I lost Lucy a couple weeks ago. I didn't mention it because it is still a very painful loss.

With Jazz-Poochie it was a no-brainer, it had to be done and I did not have any say in losing Peaches, but with Lucy it was a judgment call. She had spells where she would pace and pace the floor even though she was on some heavy pain meds. The vet manipulated her neck and joints and she was still in a lot of pain wherever he touched, so he really thought the pacing was caused from pain so I had it done and then have spent a lot of sleepless nights wondering if I did the right thing. I really miss her, she was such a sweetheart. At least I had some time with her and she got to be a housedog for a little while anyway. It just wasn't long enough.

Sunday evening Praise Assembly of God had a group of teens and their leaders from the Sanford area Bible quizzing teams. First, the teens showed us how it was done and then we had six people from our church try it. We had some very easy questions but it takes speed to get your light to go on before anyone else's does.

I was fortunate to be on the team with the pastor, so we won. The only contribution I made was spelling "Galatians" right. One of the questions was, "How many legs did Jesus' donkey have?" and it took us by surprise but someone answered it correctly. The lady said she threw ones like that in occasionally to keep people on their toes. We are hoping to get some teens or even some children in grades 1-5 interested in having quizzing. The pastor was on a quizzing team when he was young and he really enjoyed it.

I really wish the computer people had put the "caps lock" key somewhere else than between the "tab" and the "shift" keys. It seems as if I am always hitting it and find after I check my paragraph that I often have written the whole thing in "caps" and have to go back and do it over.

Lorene had a new hair-do last week and the top sort of looks like a buzz cut. Sure enough, one of the animals had to look just like her. Jack came in with the hair on top of his head sticking straight up. We don't know what he got into or how he managed it but we think that is taking looking like family members a little too far.

Ann Fitzmorris accompanied her sister, Louise "Chick" Fitzmorris and Cindy Cox to Yarmouth, Saturday, to attend the wedding of the Fitzmorris' niece, Erica to Marvin Napuli. After the wedding, they journeyed to Portland to attend the reception. Ann said it was an elegant wedding and reception but the weather didn't cooperate much as it poured a good deal of the day. She reported she enjoyed herself very much; but, as it was a long day, she got rather tired and didn't wake up in time to get ready for church. Guess she was entitled.

I read in this week's Bethel paper where Vance Richardson had died. I am really very sorry to have lost another piece of my youth. He was one of the great teachers, and after I had him for geometry I wondered why I was so nervous about taking it. I know I feel a great sense of loss and I am sure his family must feel it even more so. Mrs. Richardson was one of my Spanish teachers and I learned a lot from her, also. In later years I wished I had retained more of it, as we have more and more people come into Maine who spoke it. Of course, it may be like the French that my mother learned in school. She said when she lived in Canada it was as if the people there spoke a different language unless they were educated in the convent schools. Anyhow, the family has my sincerest sympathy. Even though he was very ill and one thinks he or she is prepared no one ever is.

"Pip" Cummings has returned home from the hospital, and he and Ada have moved back to their apartment in Bethel after spending the summer at the Cummings-Chapman cottage on North Pond.

Tracy and Toby Walker, John and Toby, have moved back to their home in West Bethel after spending the summer with her parents, Debbie and Owen Brown, at their home on North Pond. It seems as if I just wrote where they had moved in with Deb and Owen and now it is time to go home again. The summer, such as it is, has just flown.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

The second annual River Valley Expo will take place Sept. 24 and 25 at Mountain Valley High School in Rumford. Volunteers are needed to help set up, take down and man the booth during the two-day period. If you would like to help, let the Hanover Town Office know. Also this year the plan is to feature Hanover businesses. If you have a business in Hanover, contact the Town Office about how you would like to be promoted. All local businesses are eligible whether they are loggers, lawn keepers, hairdressers, carpenters, stores or manufacturers of a product.

A number of stones in Hanover Cemetery were in various stages of disrepair ranging from toppled over to nearly disintegrated. The damage is not believed to be vandalism but just deterioration from age. Most of the stones were from the early to mid 1800s. This summer 23 stones have been repaired by Don Feeney. This worthwhile project, which was approved and started last year, was spearheaded by Barbara Lapham and Helen Dolloff.

Starting Monday, Aug. 28, Hanover residents who get their mail at the Post Office began picking up their mail at the new office on Main Street (Route 2). The Post Office at the former location closed the previous Saturday and all the equipment was moved to the new site. The new Post Office project was started several years ago and was stalled for a period of time. The completion was through cooperative efforts of the U.S. Postal Service, the town of Hanover, local legislative Representatives and the congressional Representatives and their staff. Also cooperating was Chris Howe, owner of Geordie Howe's Store where the Post Office had been located since Gordon Howe was appointed postmaster in 1957. There has been a post office in Hanover since 1850.

The Hanover Planning Board scheduled meeting for Wednesday, Sept. 1, was canceled due to a lack of agenda items. The next meeting will be Oct. 6 at 7 p.m. at the Town Office.

Schools started up again this week, so be on the lookout for those big, yellow buses and the youngsters associated with them.

Albany

by Dana & Sheila Dyke
Hello and greetings from Albany Township.

This Thursday is the last church supper, which will be benefiting the youth of the Albany Church. First seating will be at 5:30 p.m., but, as always, you will want to get there early, as there usually is a line at 5 to be seated. There usually is a second seating, so, if you miss the first, you should be able to sit sometime around 6.

School started on Wednesday, Sept. 1. Please keep the children in mind when driving along the roads as the high school students need to be out very early for their buses, and the littler ones will be standing waiting about an hour afterward. As parents, we thank you.

This Sunday is the first Sunday of the month, so the Albany Church will be having communion. Services begin at 9:30 a.m.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God Bless and Keep.

West Paris

by Bertha DeHaas
Our condolences go out this week to the families of Linda Liimeta, Irene Strout

Heikkinen (Eddie Heikkinen's widow) and Mary Jane Cole (Patterson), formerly of West Paris, more recently of Las Vegas, Nev. Linda and Irene were good friends and Mary Jane was a cousin. They all shall be missed. Our numbers grow smaller with time. We each have a turn. Are you

IMAGES FROM OUR PAST

An unknown photographer took this picture of a group of gypsies in front of the William Crockett Store in Locke Mills, around the turn of the 20th century. Anyone interested in Greenwood photographs should contact the Greenwood Historical Society on Main Street in Locke Mills. The society meets the first Wednesday of every month at 7 p.m. For more information, please call 875-3726.

ready? We know not when that time will be. But when God is ready for us, we'll go.

On Saturday morning there was the wedding in Bryant Pond of Frank Brooks and Mrs. Margaret Sullivan at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brooks of Rowe Hill. Congratulations Frank and Margaret.

Also on Saturday, there was the 50th wedding anniversary party for Alice and Ken Hoyt of Bryant Pond. This was held at the American Legion Hall on Gore Road. This was an open house from 2 to 4 p.m. and there was quite a crowd. Congratulations, Alice and Ken.

As I was out of town in the morning, I missed the wedding and was late getting to the anniversary party. Some days we need to be twins.

On Saturday evening, we held our monthly public supper at the West Paris Grange Hall. There was a good variety in food provided by the grangers. Thank you all who cooked and helped in any way on the supper. There really is a lot of work to this.

Sunday noon saw Pat Breame, Elsie Hayne, Anne Swan, Jackie Stevens, Ruby Silver and me going down to Naples for a luncheon to celebrate my birthday. It was such a beautiful day, and thank you ladies for lunch, the delicious carrot cake, cards and gifts. God bless you.

Sunday evening we all went to the North Paris Federated Church for a "Singspiration," which was hosted by their members, and Jim Haney was in charge of it this month. Next month it will be back at the West Paris Baptist Church on the third Sunday of the month, Sept. 19, at 7 p.m. Come on out and join us for another evening of inspirational singing.

The Sunday School of the Mission Congregational Church at West Paris begins its 2004-2005 season on Sunday, Sept. 12, at 10 a.m. The Sunday School at the West Paris Baptist Church begins at 10:25 a.m. on Sept. 12, with a cookout for lunch.

The installation of West Paris Grange 298 and Franklin Grange 124 of Bryant Pond will be held at the West Paris Grange Hall, 4 Church Street, at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 16, preceded by a 6:30 p.m. potluck supper.

School has started, so be ever vigilant, as youngsters have a great tendency to dart across streets without looking where they are going. Always alert, never hurt as the 3A safety man, Arlan E. Barnard, used to say when I was child.

The West Paris Senior Citizens will meet at the Route 26 home of Elsie Haynes on Tuesday, Sept. 7, at noon for a potluck lunch, meeting and program.

Have a good week and we'll see you all next week.

Waterford

by Rockie Graham

By the time you read this, it will be September and the children will be back in school. Be careful on the roads in the mornings and afternoons and watch for children exiting or getting on busses.

The weather is the same old story. I keep hearing it is not going to be muggy anymore. It is. I guess there are those who like it hot and muggy. More power to them. I prefer the cooler and drier days. It is easier to work in and more comfortable all around. The garden continues to flourish, except the corn, which does not appear to want to ripen. Still all else does well and I shouldn't complain.

This Saturday, Sept. 4, Stoneham will be the location for a yard sale/thrift shop/bake sale day from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. It is at the Stoneham Congregational Church on Main Street (Route 5).

In Waterford on Saturday, the 4th, the Waterford World's Fair Association will have a summer session dance from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Fairgrounds in North Waterford. Admission is $8 per person. There will be live music. Refreshments will be for sale.

On Sept. 12, the annual Fall Foliage Road Race will be held. The race begins at 11:30 a.m. for the one-mile fun run (that's my speed). At 12 p.m. the 5K will begin. The race will benefit the Tony Waldeier Scholarship Fund.

Although our anniversary is the 1st of September, we celebrated it this past Friday. Thanks to all who came and helped us have an enjoyable evening.

Like many others, I have fallen victim to that virus that is going around. I just want to sleep, that is in between coughing, sneezing and complaining. Only I can tell the difference between this cough and my allergic bark which everyone thinks is dire.

From the

Western Maine Art Group

Welcome to the Western Maine Art Group's column, and to the September Show, "Cool Days and Hot Nights."

We are so fortunate to have Gil Whitman, whose work is in many private, corporate and museum collections, back in our Western Maine Foothills again.

There doesn't seem to be a metal that Gil hasn't mastered—bronze, iron, steel—and he's enjoyed learning the skills necessary to produce his representational art.

In Philadelphia you can see his twenty-foot-high sculpture of two hockey players, frozen in an action, a gift to the city commissioned by the Philadelphia Flyers Hockey Club. In Mystic, Connecticut you can see his "Sandpipers on the Beach" at the Mystic Seaport Museum.

If you visit Gil's studio, you can expect to see a variety of welded and painted outdoor sculptures before you even enter the building, uplifting your spirit and tickling the physics of your brain.

Inside the Whitman home, the walls are hung with beautiful and graceful wrought iron art, "paintings" of welded steel, and table sculptures that engage your eyes again and again.

And should you happen to think that Gil's art is only for sight and soul, imagine delicate dripped and welded bronze that has flowed just enough to become exquisite woodland flowers. These are Gil's life-long dream, a body of work created for people who are blind.

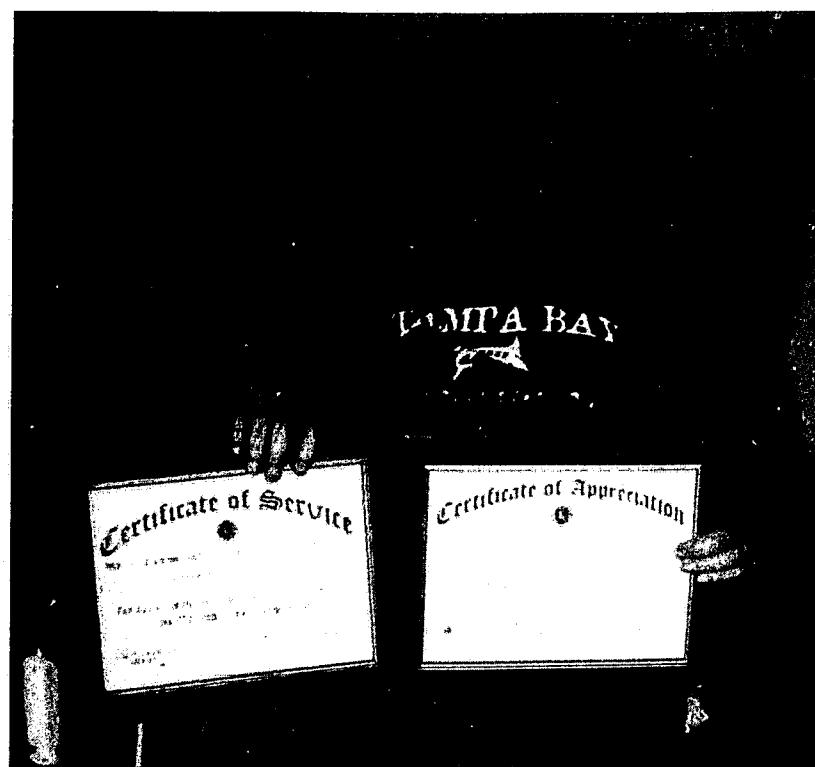

This show is nearing completion and will travel throughout the U.S., to teach not only the form of the individual flowers, but also to present a touchable way for people blind-since-birth to grasp the difficult concept of visual space.

So take a moment, and mark your calendar for Friday, Sept. 3, and join us at a reception from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Matcolsey Art Center at 480 Main Street in Norway, to welcome Gil Whitman back to our Western Maine area.

See a sampling of Gil's work, have a bit of wine and a bite of cheese, and meet Gil and the other artists of the September Show.

For questions or more information, call the gallery, Wednesday through Sunday, at 743-5411.

HOWARD DONAHUE HONORED
Howard Donahue was recently honored and presented plaques by the Bethel Lions Club in appreciation of his 27 years of service.

From the

Oxford Pomona Grange 2

On Aug. 3 at West Paris Grange the Community Service Award was presented to State Sen. Richard Bennett. In his remarks, lecturer Stanley Howe wrote that "As a community activist, the Honorable Richard A. Bennett has served Oxford County and western Maine in many capacities including two terms in the Maine House and four terms in the Maine Senate, during which he also served for a time as Senate president. For more than a dozen years he has worked hard to promote small business in our area as well as a healthy environment. His leadership roles in the establishment of the Veterans Home and the Western Maine University and Community College Center in the Oxford Hills are among his most important legacies of community service to this region. It is with great pleasure that Oxford Pomona Grange No. 2 confers its 2004 Community Service Award upon Senator Richard A. Bennett of Norway for his dedication and commitment to the people of our region on this third day of August 2004, at West Paris Grange No. 298."

Senator Bennett's wife, Karen, and children, Abigail and Nathaniel were present for this presentation and a plaque was awarded by his cousin, Pomona Master Olive Risko. Sen. Bennett then had a few words on community service and mentioned that earlier in the year there was a fear of a huge deficit in Maine and that now there is a surplus as the goal posts have been moved, and the qualities we want in our legislators are honesty and straight talk.

Following the above presentation the program continued with singing, the mystery march and 50/50 drawing won by Nina Grover. Resolutions of Respect were read for Alma Munn who had passed away since the previous meeting. Oxford Pomona will meet again on Sept. 7 at Lakeside Grange in Harrison when a 6:30 p.m. potluck supper will precede the 7:30 p.m. meeting. The meeting will include the installation of officers for the coming year.

From the

West Paris Troopettes

We need Bingo enthusiasts. The successful August Sunday Troopettes Bingo will be repeated Sunday, Sept. 19 and Sunday, Oct. 17 at the West Paris Town Office at 1 p.m. Funds raised are used for the ongoing support of the West Paris servicemen in Iraq. Monthly mailings include sample and small-sized toiletries, reading materials and greetings, and individual-size food items. We've had favorable responses from our servicemen, who look forward to their morale boosters. Donations of items or cash (monthly postage ranges from $50 to $70) may be made by contacting Sylvia 674-2114, Emily 674-2708, or Nancy 674-2936.

The same individuals may be contacted to purchase raffle tickets. The drawings on Oct. 17 will include a filled Longaberger basket, 1/2 cord of firewood, $50 Perham's Maine Mineral Store gift certificate, $50 gravel products, a latch hook rug, and a handmade afghan.

At this time one other fundraiser is planned for Sept. 11: A "Scrappin' and Stampin'" party at the Locke Mills Legion. For more information or to pre-register, contact Dixie at 674-2390.

during the week of Aug. 23, attracting a total of more than 100 Democrats.

The meeting was opened on Tuesday evening in Porter, continued on Wednesday in Norway, and concluded with a potluck supper and meeting on Thursday in Rumford. County chairperson Cathy Newell and Treasurer Mike Broderick conducted the meeting, with representatives from the Kerry and Michaud campaigns also attending all sessions.

Local hosts for the meetings included Doug Bowen and Myra Bethell in Porter, Hilary Ware and Miriam Laster in Norway, and Rep. John Patrick and Sen. Bruce Bryant in Rumford.

Campaign updates were presented by Tim Trafford of the Michaud campaign, Dan O'Connor of the Kerry campaign and the local candidates or their representatives including Bryant, Senate District 14, Marge Medd, Senate District 13, Patrick, District 92, Linda Petrie, District 93, Tim Carter, District 91, Terry Hayes, District 94, Roy Gedat, House District 95, Marlee Turner, House District 97, Margaret Reimer, House District 98, Gordon Fuller, House District 99, Kathleen Dougherty, House District 100, County Commissioner Fred Kennard, George Driscoll, candidate for County Commissioner, and Price Hutchins, Register of Probate.

Geoffrey Herman of the Maine Municipal Association was the guest speaker in Rumford at the final night of the county meeting.

His topic was the impact of the Palesky Tax Cap, which is opposed by the Maine Municipal Association and more than 50 statewide associations because of the devastating impact on Maine's towns and cities.

Other business at the county committee meeting included planning for the fall campaign and reports from the field offices in Norway and Mexico. Offices in Buckfield, Bethel and Bridgton will open after Sept. 1.

To become involved in Oxford County Democrats activities, visit the Web site, www.oxforddems.org, or call any of the candidates or County Chairperson Cathy Newell, 875-2116.

RX Express Trip

The Oxford County Democrats, including Bryant, Patrick, Carter, and Petrie, in collaboration with the Maine Council of Senior Citizens, are offering individuals in the area who lack prescription drug insurance and have high prescription costs the opportunity to travel on the Rx Express to Canada on Oct. 13 and 14 to fill their prescriptions.

The trip is supported by the Senate and House Democratic candidates in Oxford County in order to provide a direct service to the twenty individuals who will ride the bus and to highlight the issue of the high cost of drugs for many seniors and others.

The Rx Express trip is a tangible demonstration of the commitment of the candidates to address the issue of prescription drug costs, and of healthcare in general, once they are in office.

The Maine Council of Senior Citizens sponsored a similar trip in June and the twelve individuals taking part saved nearly $30,000 on a year's supply of medications. Oxford County residents will have priority sign-up for the trip.

Oxford County Democratic candidates Bryant, Patrick, Medd, Gedat, Hayes, Petrie, Kathleen Dougherty, Margaret Reimer, Turner, Carter and Fuller will be visiting senior citizens meal sites and meetings with information and application forms. Forms may also be obtained at the Democratic field offices in Mexico and Norway, by calling County Chairperson Cathy Newell at 875-2116, or by calling the Maine Council of Senior Citizens, (800) 452-8794.

From the

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

Marty Engstrom of Fryeburg will be the featured speaker at the 39th annual meeting of the Bethel Historical Society to be held on Thursday, Sept. 9, on the grounds of the society's Regional History Center, beginning with a 6:30 p.m. chicken barbecue followed by a 7:30 p.m. annual meeting and presentation by Mr. Engstrom of "A Winter Trip on Mt. Washington."

Engstrom was perhaps best known for his memorable smile at the end of his report on the weather at the top of Mt. Washington. He, however, was never really in the weather business, but served as a television engineer at the summit of Mt. Washington from 1964 to 2002. Prior to 1964, he served in the U. S. Air Force, where he obtained his electronic training. His slide presentation will provide the details of trips up Mt. Washington with various scenes around and inside the buildings in winter and summer. Since his retirement, "Mountain Marty" is quite active on his fifteen-acre farm in Fryeburg where he lives with his wife Rosalie, two of his three grown children and two grandsons. When he is not struggling with his farm work, he "tinkers" with all technical subjects and serves as a pilot and amateur radio operator.

At the meeting, there will be announcements, reports and the presentation of the annual Marjorie MacArthur Noll Volunteer Service Award. Officers and trustees for the coming year will also be elected. All those attending the barbecue are asked to bring either a salad or dessert.

From the

Oxford Hills AARP

The Oxford Hills AARP, friends and families, is participating in a great day trip to Rye, N.H. for an afternoon Whale Watch on Saturday, Sept. 11.

The ship, the Atlantic Queen II, is 80 feet long and holds 127 passengers and is fully certified. We cruise out to Jeffrey's Ledge and the Stellwagen Bank National Marine Sanctuary. September is a great time to see the whales as they are migrating South. An experienced naturalist will be on board to tell us all about the whales and they guarantee whale sightings.

Bring along a boxed lunch, drinks, warm jackets, hats and scarves, cameras and also motion sickness medication.

We've planned this exciting trip for a Saturday so that you can bring along family members, grandchildren and also friends who work.

Call Henrietta or Wally Taft soon to make your reservation (743-6722) and then send your check for $56 (senior rate) to Walter Taft, 1024 Gore Road, Otisfield, ME 04270. Adult rate is $63, child (4-16) rate is $53 (3 and under free). The bus, the cruise and dinner at the Weatherlane Restaurant in Kittery is included. The bus leaves at 8:30 a.m. from the old Ames Plaza in Oxford and will return at 8:30 in the evening.

Family reunions

SMITH FAMILY
Descendants of Simon and Maryann McKeen Smith of Stow and other branches of Smiths met at the Fryeburg Fairgrounds on Aug. 1 for their annual reunion.

While families gathered to visit and do genealogy research, they were entertained by Peter Allen and group with a musical sing. A potluck luncheon was served at noon.

Prizes awarded were: oldest present, Walter Kimball of Stow (87 years); youngest, Kailyn Canfield (17 months), daughter of Chris and Kelly Smith Canfield of Fryeburg; farthest traveled, Linwood "Scott" McAlister and family from New York; family member wearing Smith T-shirt, Evelyn Chaplin of Fryeburg; door prize, Mary Kimball of Stow.

Next year's reunion will be held on the first Sunday in August. For a notice of next year's reunion, contact Barbara Eastman, 1209 Main Road, Chatham, NH 03813 or (603) 694-3623.

STEPHENS HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 1935 REUNION

Classmates of the year 1935 at Stephens High School, Rumford held their 69th reunion on Saturday, Aug. 21, at Teena's in East Rumford with 11 members and three guests attending.

The meeting was held at 11:30 a.m. and a noon dinner with business meeting and program followed. A decorated cake and delicious food and a great time were enjoyed. Letters were read from several classmates who could not attend, and it was noted that four classmates were deceased who attended the 2003 reunion: Louise Brown Worcester, Dorothy Reed Odgon, Evelyn McDougal Porter and Jennie Anderson Murray.

Of a class of 109 graduates, there are 41 classmates on the mailing list. Members attending were: Lillian Falaut Richards, Estelle Goddard Glover, Emmeline Hanson Murphy, Mildred Bulger Harlow, John Bernard; Alason "Bud" Bowden; Mariette Peare Doll-off; Oscar Legere and wife; Jerold Evans and wife; Dr. Linwood Rowe and guest, and Evelyn Thurston Bean.

It was decided to have the 70th class reunion on Aug. 20, 2005 at Teena's and that Evelyn Bean would mail notices. Thanks were expressed to Teena for her kindness for such a pleasant, enjoyable day.

At the 50th reunion it was voted to always meet in Rumford, as we graduated from a school in Rumford.

The program that followed was, "What was the most pleasant interesting time of my life since the last reunion of 2003?"

The prize was won by Jean Evans. The Evanses travel from Chatham, N.J. every year to attend the reunion and "Jed" said, "This is one of the highlights of the year for Jean and I."

Pictures were taken of all the classmates attending. Although it was a hard rain all day outside, it sure was a very cordial time inside at Teena's.

Obituaries

CYNTHIA SCRIBNER

Cynthia "Cindy" Scribner, 42 of Upton, died Aug. 29, 2004 as the result of a motorcycle accident.

She was born in Hartford, Conn., on March 18, 1962, the daughter of Clayton J. and Belmira (Joaquin) Thompson. She was educated in Connecticut schools and graduated from Tantasqua High School in Sturbridge, Conn.

Cindy was a member of the International Union of Operating Engineers Local 369 of Memphis, Tenn., and had worked as a heavy equipment operator.

She married Jeff Scribner on Sept. 30, 1989.

Cindy was an avid animal lover, she enjoyed snowmobiling, fishing, motorcycling and flying.

She survived by her mother of Errol, N.H.; her father of Upton; her husband of Upton; one brother, Dennis Wood of Augusta; three sisters, Doreen Vlk of Sturbridge, Mass., Lucy Nelson of Upton and Dianne Casco of Fisk Hill, Mass.

ELSIE S. BANCROFT

Elsie Spielman Bancroft, of Paris Hill, died on Thursday, Aug. 26, 2004 at Market Square Health Care Center. On Aug. 20, she celebrated her 98th birthday surrounded by family.

She was born in Ellington, Conn., in 1906, where she and six siblings grew up on a dairy farm. They were the children of John and Lydia Spielman who had immigrated to this country from Switzerland.

Her family's farm became well known for producing, bottling and delivering milk throughout Ellington and Rockville where she also attended school.

She graduated as an R.N. from the Hartford Hospital School of Nursing in 1927, and married Winfield Ernest Bancroft in 1930. They made their home in West Hartford, Conn., until 1985, when they relocated to Paris to be nearer to family.

She loved newborn babies and was well suited to her role as the head of the newborn nursery during her many years of employment at Hartford Hospital. Later in her career she became well known as a caregiver for terminally ill friends and relatives. She was happiest when she was working. She was often heard singing while she was preparing a meal, weeding the garden, or hanging the family wash to dry.

Her favorite place in the world was the cottage that she and her husband shared on Lake Champlain in Charlotte, Vt. She thoroughly enjoyed the sunsets, sailboats, whitecaps, swimming, fishing, and the many friends she made there.

She was always ready with a kind word or a helping hand for anyone facing adversity. She is fondly remembered for the many scrapes that she got her young grandchildren out of over the years, her outstanding fruit cocktail and other delicious recipes, her excellent under pushes which were tirelessly given to her grandchildren on the swing in their West Hartford yard, and countless other qualities that made "Grammie City" who she was. She will be missed by many.

She is survived by her son, Allen and his wife Mary Alice of Paris; five grandchildren, Brenda Leighton and her husband Rick of Enfield, Leslie Krichko of Ridgefield, Conn., Kristi Boucher and her husband Rick of West Paris, Holly Brown and her husband Mike of Paris, and Mark Bancroft and his wife Angela of Paris; and her grandchildren's families which include 12 great-grandchildren. She was predeceased by her husband in 1994.

A private family memorial was held on Monday, Aug. 30 at the Bancroft home on Paris Hill. A graveside service will be held on a later date, at the family's convenience. Donations in memory of Elsie may be made to the Market Square Health Care Center, 12 Market Square, South Paris, ME 04281, or, Stephens Memorial Hospital, 181 Main Street, Norway, ME 04268.

EDITH M. BARTLETT

Edith Margaret Bartlett died Aug. 15, 2004 at home, in the care of her loving family.

Born at home Sept. 18, 1925 in Rumford Center, she was the daughter of Richard Bailey and Arabelle Holman Farrar. She attended Rumford schools, graduating from Stephens High School in 1944.

Married on June 21, 1947 to William E. Bartlett, they were longtime residents of Rumford Point, moving to Andover for several years before retiring to Theodore, Ala.

While in Maine she enjoyed being part of various service groups and worked as a cook in the Rumford school system. She enjoyed painting, reading and braiding rugs. Summers always found the family in residence at the camp on South Shore Road, Howard Pond, Hanover.

She attended the First Congregational churches of Rumford Point and Andover and was a member of the Regency Church of Christ in Mobile, Ala., at the time of her death.

She is survived by her husband, William of Theodore, Ala.; a sister, Evaline Alcombrack of Belmont, N.H.; three sons, Eugene (Robin) of Mobile, Ala., Garry (Margie) of Hanover, and James (Sher-ell) of Rindge, N.H. There are eight grandchildren whom she loved dearly, those who live locally are Benjamin Bartlett, Andover and Kara Bartlett and fiancé Doug Koskela, Bryant Pond. There are two great-grandchildren, Mary Kyle, who drew Nana a picture to take with her, and John Mark, who says "Nana won't be shy when she meets Jesus." She was predeceased by her brother, R. Holman Farrar.

Those wishing may donate to the American Cancer Society in Edith's memory. Burial of her ashes will take place at the Rumford Center Cemetery, with a graveside service at a later date.

He was brought up in Watertown, Mass., and after graduation from high school he attended Colby College and was to graduate in 1942, but WWII changed his plans. He joined the 102nd Infantry of Connecticut and went to the South Pacific.

After the war, he returned to Colby College and graduated in June of 1947. He began his teaching career at West Paris High School in the fall of 1947.
